Commissioners Warn Dog Owners To Purchase Tags

Pickaway County Commissioners Monday warned all dog owners in the county to purchase licenses for their animals.

According to Dick T. Tootle, chairman of the board of commissioners, only about 2,800 licenses have been sold by Pickaway County Auditor Marvin Rhoades' office.

Tootle feels this is only a part of the dogs in the county. Commissioners received several reports over the weekend that dogs are roving in packs in western Pickaway County, killing and injuring livestock in the area.

Animal claims submitted by farmers who have had livestock killed by dogs are paid from funds derived from the sale of dog licenses. Commissioners appropriated $4,887 at the beginning of the year to pay animal claims. There is $2,231.20 remaining in the fund.

COMMISSIONERS Charles Morris and Wayne Hines noted there is a proper procedure to follow in filing animal claims. If the procedure is not followed, the claim is not allowed.

Dog Warden Ralph Wallace must be notified within 24 hours of the killing of an animal by dogs. He makes an investigation and witnesses are appointed to appraise the animals and verify they were killed by dogs. The claim is then submitted to the board of commissioners.

However, if the farmer owns a dog or dogs and has failed to purchase tags, the claim is (Continued on Page 10)

Ohio Senate Reconvenes After Recess

Still Seeks Way To Give Aid To Nonpublic Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Senate returned to work today with floor action likely on measures to aid parents of nonpublic school children and local governments.

The House remains in recess this week, but a committee is expected to do considerable work on a bill to create a state Environmental Protection Agency.

After completing scheduled business, the Senate was to go into a so-called "jitters" operation whereby leaders can put out for a vote anything deemed ready.

Under the parochial aid measure, parents of nonpublic school students, most of them Catholic, would receive a $90 per year per pupil, state tax credit.

The measure is the legislature's latest effort to find a way to aid nonpublic schools which is acceptable to the courts. Two previous efforts were rejected as unconstitutional, and opponents have predicted the tax credit plan will meet a similar fate.

The local government aid bill would increase the amount the state puts in the local government fund from $48 million to $52.2 million a year by basing the share on a percentage of all taxes rather than a flat distribution from the income tax.

The bill passed the House calling for the state to share 5 per cent of the income, sales and corporation franchise taxes with the local governments. A Senate committee lowered the amount to 3.5 per cent. (Continued on Page 2)

U.S. Planes Strike Near China Border

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots reported they knocked out two more railroad bridges in North Vietnam within 25 miles of the Chinese border Monday, a few hours before Peking broadcast a strong protest against American air attacks along China's southern frontier.

Military spokesmen said 2,000-pound laser bombs brought down the two bridges on the northeast rail line to China and that they had not been hit before. They were 55 and 60 miles northeast of Hanoi.

U.S. planes have bombed North Vietnam's two railroads to China repeatedly in the past week at points 20 to 30 miles from the border. The Chinese Foreign Ministry in a statement broadcast Monday night said the air raids threatened the security of China and were "grave provocations against the Chinese people."

The U.S. Command said American pilots flew more than 290 strikes against targets in North Vietnam on Monday. B52 bombers battered North Vietnamese supply dumps north of the demilitarized zone today for the sixth successive day.

North Vietnam claimed its gunners shot down a U.S. Phantom jet fighter-bomber northeast of Hanoi on Monday.

The U.S. Command said it had no plane losses to report, but it disclosed the loss of the third OH6 observation helicopter in two days 13 miles southwest of Hue. One crewman was reported missing and one wounded in the crash Monday.

The South Vietnamese command said 51 North Vietnamese were killed and 105 weapons and 15 field radios were captured in a series of clashes Monday at An Loc and south of the city along Highway 13. Nine South Vietnamese were reported killed and 24 wounded.

Viet Reds Not Giving Up Begin Burial Of Flood Victims

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — Burial of Rapid City's flood victims begins today in three cemeteries while survivors continue the search for the dead.

Individual graveside services will be conducted for the identified victims who died last Friday and early Saturday when rain-swollen Rapid Creek erupted through this city of 43,000 persons in the shadow of the Black Hills.

"The services will probably go for at least a week," said a funeral director. A mass memorial service is scheduled Sunday at a local high school.

Civil Defense reported Sunday that the death toll stood at more than 200, but on Monday it said the toll was 175. However, newsmen counted 161 identified bodies and 31 unidentified, a total of 192. The toll was expected to climb.

A spokesman said duplication of reports and confusion caused erroneous reports. Officials said some bodies were moved to nearby communities Sunday when three Rapid City mortuaries used as temporary morgues became overcrowded.

The Omaha (Neb.) World-Herald reported in today's editions that two cloud-seeding experiments were conducted Friday in the Rapid City area, one of them about 5 p.m., an hour before the devastating rains began.

The experiments were conducted by the Institute of Atmospheric Sciences, South Dakota School of Mines & Technology "for increasing water supply and studying the dynamics of hail production," the copyright article quotes an unnamed federal official as saying.

The newspaper quoted Prof. Arnett Dennis, chief of the institute's meteorological analysis group, as saying the experiments "had totally and absolutely nothing to do with the storm that hit Rapid City. I would stake my life on that."

As the cleanup and search continued at Rapid City, Maj. Gen. Duane L. Corning, commander of the South Dakota National Guard, said, "Guardmen have been finding bodies all day. It will continue for days and days."

Says Center Is Moving To McGovern

NEW YORK (AP) — The middle of the road in American politics is moving George McGovern's way and George McGovern is there to meet it. That, at least, is the opinion of the liberal senator from conservative South Dakota.

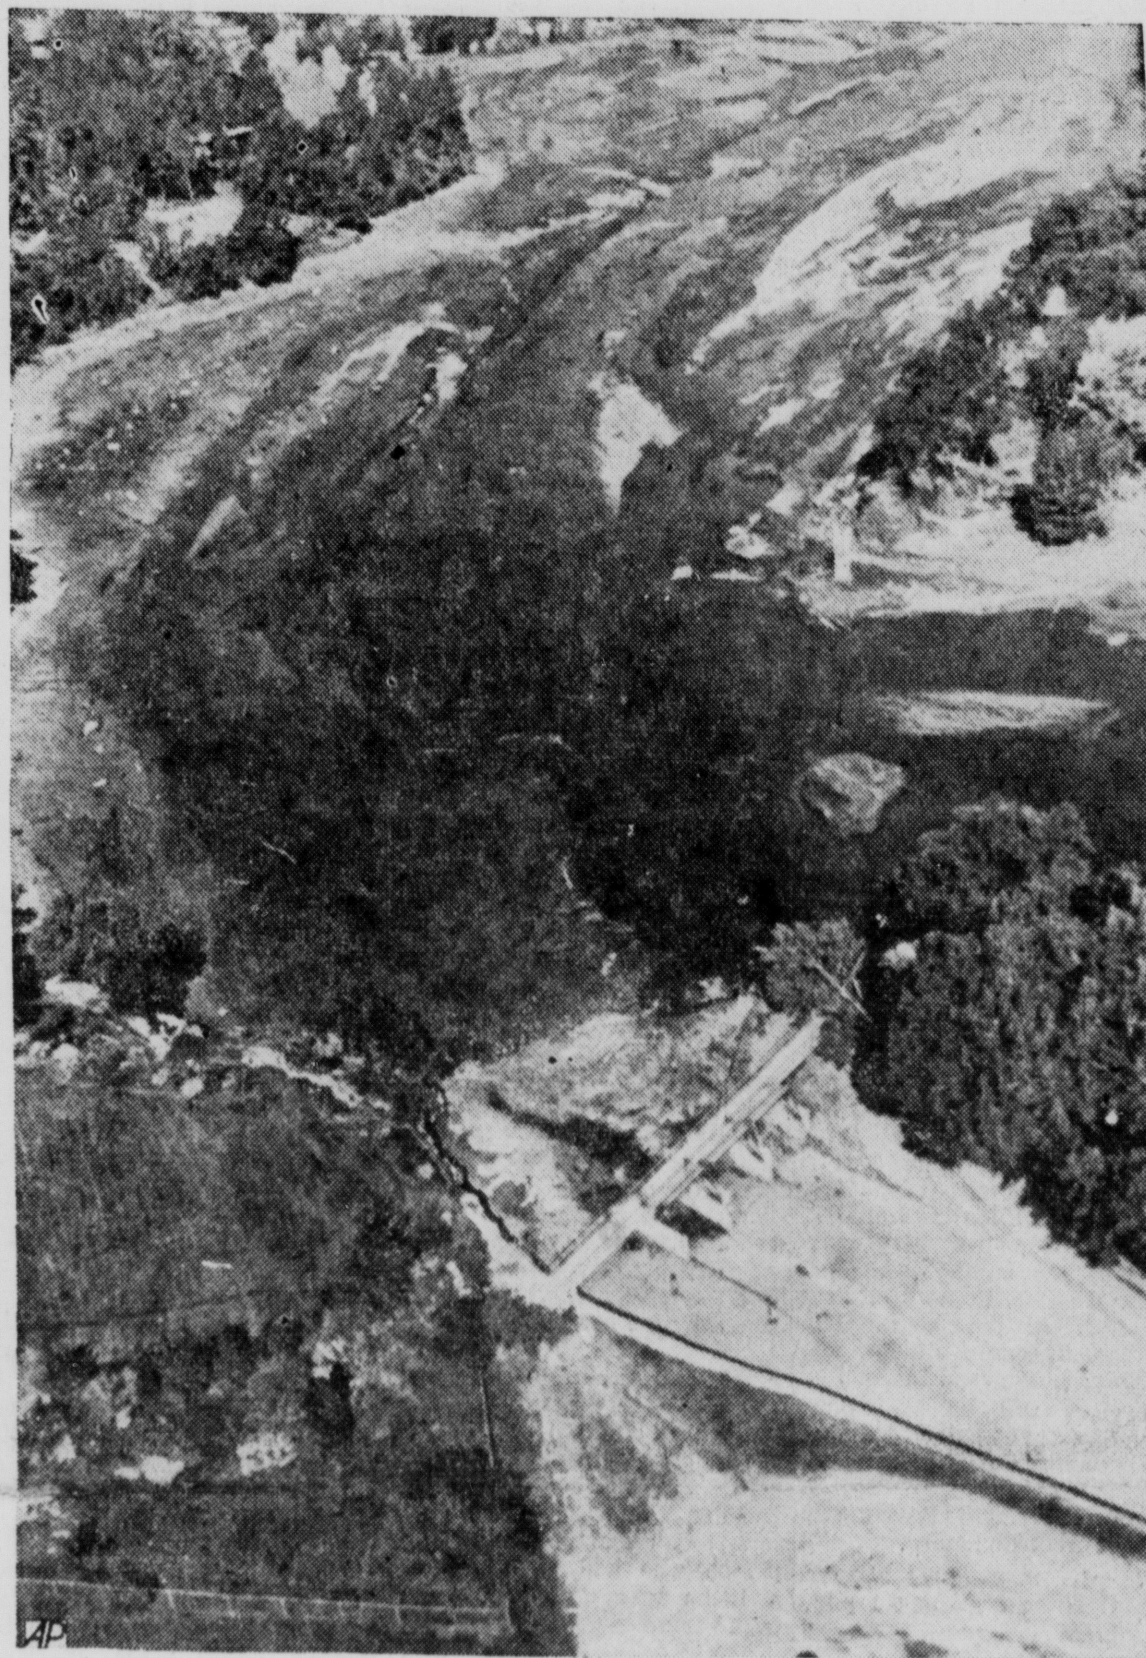

Campaigning without major opposition for next Tuesday's Democratic presidential primary here, McGovern told approximately 4,000 enthusiastic lower-middle income Bronx apartment dwellers Monday:

"I was advised every day by pundits and some of my advisers to move toward the center."

But, he said, "the center is moving to us. The people are not looking for a leader who straddles every issue by standing in the middle of the road."

"They're looking for a leader who will stand for change, who recognizes that we're in deep trouble in this country..."

To back up his own analysis, McGovern spent much of the day boosting programs he has long called for, including immediate withdrawal of all U.S. forces from South Vietnam. That drew the greatest crowd reaction as he campaigned Monday.

No Action On Transfer Of Laurelville To Logan Elm

Still no action was taken at the meeting of the Pickaway County Board of Education Monday due to "numerous unanswered questions we must try to have answered."

So action on the proposal by the Hocking County Board of Education offering Pickaway's Logan Elm District all the students of Laurelville with the exception of Benton Twp. was again postponed.

Primary problem in the transfer is the fact that roughly 85 per cent of the student population of the Laurelville School District would be transferred to Logan Elm, but only 70 to 75 per cent of the wealth of the school district, County Superintendent Edward Martin said.

If the transfer was to be approved as presented by Hocking County, Logan Elm would receive 676 Laurelville students and $8,748,573 of the Laurelville District's potential school support taxes. Logan Schools, with the comparatively wealthy Benton Twp. district, would receive 121 students and $2,710,300 additional school funds from real estate and personal property taxes.

"THE Logan Elm board, as it now stands, announced they would be agreeable to accepting the entire Laurelville District," Martin said, "if these and other matters can be resolved. But they also felt that the county board should not take action until these matters are settled."

If the division were agreed to, how will the buildings and buses be divided? On the matter of outstanding bills, since annexation of a school district involves taking over debts as well as assets, Pickaway County would like to have a ruling on how the debts would be divided—what portion would the local district receive of supplies and other equipment? How would Logan and Logan Elm handle staffing?

One definite decision arrived at during the meeting Monday evening was that Logan Elm and Pickaway County believe that the Laurelville district should not be separated of its most wealthy district, forcing the school district receiving the majority of the student population to place itself in possible financial turmoil when the three years of guaranteed state aid have run out because the additional students are from an area of low tax valuation. These feelings should have an effect on Laurel Twp's petition to be transferred to Logan City Schools.

Pickaway County board members are concerned about the Laurelville students, since they must have accommodation next year, Martin commented, but they are primarily concerned about the Logan Elm District.

It was resolved last night to meet at the soonest date possible with a representative of the State Department of Education who might hopefully provide some answers to the problems which have arisen in the transfer.

Tuesday morning it was arranged to meet 8 p.m. Monday in the Pickaway County Board office with Tom Quick, assistant superintendent of public instruction for the state. Through his assistance, the board hopes to be able to reach a decision by July 1, if at all possible, to settle the Laurelville issue.

Hanoi Seen Continuing Its Offensive

Will Not Quit Despite Increase In U.S. Bombing

SAIGON (AP) — Hanoi watchers in Saigon believe the central committee of North Vietnam's Communist party has resolved to continue the offensive in South Vietnam despite the intense U.S. bombing and the mining of northern harbors.

Their conclusion is based on a series of articles published this month in Nhan Dan, the official party newspaper, and a communique issued over the weekend by the North Vietnamese Council of Ministers.

Analysts in Saigon say the communique and the newspaper articles reveal policy decisions that could only be made with the concurrence of the central committee.

"The decision was to go all the way," said one experienced observer.

According to his view, the 69-member committee met at the end of May—after the U.S. response to the offensive was clear—and new policies were revealed early this month in a 5,000-word, three-part series of articles in Nhan Dan signed by Hong Ha. The name was unfamiliar to intelligence analysts and is believed to be a pseudonym for a writer expressing the party's official view.

"The North has entered the war," Hong Ha wrote. "We accept the Nixon clique's challenge. For final victory, we are mobilizing all our forces. Peace will only return to the North when the South has triumphed. From now until that time, the daily life of the entire North, including all tiny pieces of land, will be put on a war footing."

The articles admit the bombing campaign may be devastating and that some industrial plants may not be rebuilt until after the war, but they call for an immediate and determined effort to support the front.

"Our people can walk, can use torchlight, can eat watered rice gruel and still defeat the U.S. aggressors," Hong Ha declared.

The articles emphasize the importance of maintaining communication and transportation facilities, hard hit by the bombing, and of using local plants to produce goods knocked out by the destruction of heavy industry.

They also stress the importance of the rice harvest, which is endangered by the annual flood and typhoon season.

Cuyahoga Poll Officials Granted Delay In Firings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted Brown's dismissal of four Cuyahoga County Election board members was stayed by the Ohio Supreme Court Monday after the officials appealed their firings.

The high court granted writs sought by the officials, who contended the dismissals were unconstitutional and denied them due process of law, and set a hearing on the matter for June 19.

Brown advised Republican board members Robert Hughes and Saul Stillman and Democrats Anthony Garofoli and John Carney of their dismissals last week by telegram.

Brown said Monday he planned to write the four explaining they were being fired for refusing to cooperate in certifying to him the official county canvas of the May 2 primary, but the court order halted that action.

Brown said he also was disturbed because the board ignored his suggestion it seek an attorney well versed in elections procedures to replace board director Joseph Cipollone, who quit after major foul-ups occurred during primary voting in Cuyahoga County.

Carney, chairman of the Cuyahoga County board, announced Monday that Cleveland city councilman Virgil Brown will be appointed to the post Thursday.

However, a roadblock to the appointment appeared Monday night when Brown, a Republican, decided against resigning from council as planned after Democrats refused to permit him to name his son as his successor.

Brown said he would not vacate the $23,000-a-year election board post unless his son, Virgil E. Brown Jr., was named to the council.

Brown must resign from council before the election board may appoint him director because state law prohibits him from serving in both offices.

After the Supreme Court stayed the firings, Stillman said in Cleveland the board plans to continue "to discharge its duties as exactly as we have been doing... With a little bit of uncertainty, of course."

Election day problems in Cuyahoga County included voting machines that hadn't arrived at polling places when they opened, and voting machines that were locked and unable to be opened when voting hours began. Some precincts never opened on election day.

Vietnam Vets' Trial Slated For August

CINCINNATI (AP)—Five members of the Cincinnati Chapter of Vietnam Veterans Against the War, arrested Memorial Day during a parade, will have their cases decided Aug. 3 in Hamilton County Municipal Court.

In North College Hill Mayor's court Monday night, Mayor William Pieper disqualified himself from hearing the case on motion from defense counsel because he witnessed the arrest.

Agents Probe Plane Blast

No One Injured In DC10 Mishap

DETROIT (AP) — Federal agents probed a badly damaged DC10 airliner today to seek the cause of a blast which ripped the tail section of the American Airlines jumbo jet shortly after takeoff from Detroit.

The 57 passengers and 11 crew members escaped serious injury as the jet ran off a Detroit Metropolitan Airport runway during an emergency landing.

The blast Monday night knocked out power in one of the plane's three engines, and damaged hydraulic control and wheel brake systems.

Eleven persons aboard the 220-passenger-capacity aircraft suffered minor injuries—most while sliding down emergency exit chutes after the landing. Several passengers hit by debris during the blast were treated at local hospitals and released.

Teams from the FBI, the National Transportation Safety Board, American Airlines and a special Federal Aviation Administration bomb squad worked into the morning searching for clues.

Officials declined to say the explosion, which airline spokesmen said originated in a cargo hold, was caused by a bomb. But passengers quoted senior pilot Bryce E. McCormick of Los Angeles as telling them he felt a bomb had gone off.

"There was a puff of smoke, an explosion and then the plane started losing altitude, said passenger Allen Kaminsky of Buffalo, N.Y. His wife said she thought at that moment "I was going to die."

The blast occurred 12,000 feet over southern Ontario about 15 minutes after American Flight 96 had taken off for Buffalo. Officials said the fact that the explosion came early in the flight, while the seatbelt light was on and passengers were in their seats, prevented deaths or serious injuries.

Wayne County Undersheriff Loren Pittman said the blast tore a 15-foot-long hole in floor of the unoccupied coach lounge in the rear of the passenger compartment.

Pittman said the airline had received no threats against the plane.

'Nixon Court' Showing Its Independence

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's drive to put a conservative face on the Supreme Court is meeting with success. But the rightward drift in criminal law is not interrupted. Sometimes the Court seems to be going in two directions at once as it did Monday.

With resistance from only two of the Nixon nominees, Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist, the Court in one ruling actually expanded one of the landmark decisions of the liberal '60s: the right of all defendants, rich or poor, to have a lawyer defend them at trial.

The opinion came from the pen of William O. Douglas, an activist in applying the Bill of Rights long before Earl Warren even became chief justice.

Douglas said the Sixth Amendment guarantees a defendant a lawyer whenever he faces a possible jail sentence.

Warren's conservative successor, Warren E. Burger, went along. So did Harry A. Blackmun, another Nixon nominee.

It wasn't until 1963 and the Gideon decision that defendants who were charged with "serious crimes" and could not afford a lawyer were guaranteed that one would be provided by the state.

In the nine years since, the Court and most of the states have confined this right to trials that could lead to jail terms of at least six months.

But Douglas said the Sixth Amendment calls for a lawyer whenever a trial could result in "deprivation of a person's liberty."

Unwaved by the change this will require, he pointed out some 18,000 new lawyers are admitted to practice yearly—more than eight times the estimated number needed to represent all poor people charged with misdemeanors other than traffic offenses.

And most misdemeanors, he said, will not call for a lawyer since most do not lead to a jail sentence.

Within minutes of announcing this decision, however, the Court in another ruling carried forward the "law and order" theme of Nixon's 1968 presidential campaign. This was a 6-3 decision that gives police (Continued on Page 2)

Brown said he would not vacate the $23,000-a-year election board post unless his son, Virgil E. Brown Jr., was named to the council.

Brown must resign from council before the election board may appoint him director because state law prohibits him from serving in both offices.

After the Supreme Court stayed the firings, Stillman said in Cleveland the board plans to continue "to discharge its duties as exactly as we have been doing. With a little bit of uncertainty, of course."

Election day problems in Cuyahoga County included voting machines that hadn't arrived at polling places when they opened, and voting machines that were locked and unable to be opened when voting hours began. Some precincts never opened on election day.

Vietnam Vets' Trial Slated For August

CINCINNATI (AP)—Five members of the Cincinnati Chapter of Vietnam Veterans Against the War, arrested Memorial Day during a parade, will have their cases decided Aug. 3 in Hamilton County Municipal Court.

In North College Hill Mayor's court Monday night, Mayor William Pieper disqualified himself from hearing the case on motion from defense counsel because he witnessed the arrest.

Agents Probe Plane Blast

No One Injured In DC10 Mishap

DETROIT (AP) — Federal agents probed a badly damaged DC10 airliner today to seek the cause of a blast which ripped the tail section of the American Airlines jumbo jet shortly after takeoff from Detroit.

The 57 passengers and 11 crew members escaped serious injury as the jet ran off a Detroit Metropolitan Airport runway during an emergency landing.

The blast Monday night knocked out power in one of the plane's three engines, and damaged hydraulic control and wheel brake systems.

Eleven persons aboard the 220-passenger-capacity aircraft suffered minor injuries—most while sliding down emergency exit chutes after the landing. Several passengers hit by debris during the blast were treated at local hospitals and released.

Teams from the FBI, the National Transportation Safety Board, American Airlines and a special Federal Aviation Administration bomb squad worked into the morning searching for clues.

Officials declined to say the explosion, which airline spokesmen said originated in a cargo hold, was caused by a bomb. But passengers quoted senior pilot Bryce E. McCormick of Los Angeles as telling them he felt a bomb had gone off.

"There was a puff of smoke, an explosion and then the plane started losing altitude, said passenger Allen Kaminsky of Buffalo, N.Y. His wife said she thought at that moment "I was going to die."

The blast occurred 12,000 feet over southern Ontario about 15 minutes after American Flight 96 had taken off for Buffalo. Officials said the fact that the explosion came early in the flight, while the seatbelt light was on and passengers were in their seats, prevented deaths or serious injuries.

Wayne County Undersheriff Loren Pittman said the blast tore a 15-foot-long hole in floor of the unoccupied coach lounge in the rear of the passenger compartment.

Pittman said the airline had received no threats against the plane.

'Nixon Court' Showing Its Independence

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's drive to put a conservative face on the Supreme Court is meeting with success. But the rightward drift in criminal law is not uninterrupted. Sometimes the Court seems to be going in two directions at once as it did Monday.

With resistance from only two of the Nixon nominees, Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist, the Court in one ruling actually expanded one of the landmark decisions of the liberal '60s: the right of all defendants, rich or poor, to have a lawyer defend them at trial.

The opinion came from the pen of William O. Douglas, an activist in applying the Bill of Rights long before Earl Warren even became chief justice.

Douglas said the Sixth Amendment guarantees a defendant a lawyer whenever he faces a possible jail sentence.

Warren's conservative successor, Warren E. Burger, went along. So did Harry A. Blackmun, another Nixon nominee.

It wasn't until 1963 and the Gideon decision that defendants who were charged with "serious crimes" and could not afford a lawyer were guaranteed that one would be provided by the state.

In the nine years since, the Court and most of the states have confined this right to trials that could lead to jail terms of at least six months.

But Douglas said the Sixth Amendment calls for a lawyer whenever a trial could result in "deprivation of a person's liberty."

Unwary by the change this will require, he pointed out some 18,000 new lawyers are admitted to practice yearly—more than eight times the estimated number needed to represent all poor people charged with misdemeanors other than traffic offenses.

And most misdemeanors, he said, will not call for a lawyer since most do not lead to a jail sentence.

Within minutes of announcing this decision, however, the Court in another ruling carried forward the "law and order" theme of Nixon's 1968 presidential campaign. This was a 6-3 decision that gives police (Continued on Page 2)

Five Persons Hurt In Road Mishaps

Five persons were injured in three separate highway accidents investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

A three-car collision 4:20 p.m. Monday resulted in injuries to Monte K. Arledge, 25, Chillicothe, Louis Willard Feese, 62, Barbourville, W. Va. and Roxie Jane Feese, 46, Barbourville, W. Va.

Arledge was referred to the doctor for treatment while the Feese couple were treated at Berger Hospital for neck injuries suffered in the mishap.

According to the report in the sheriff's department, Arledge was southbound on Route 23, eight-tenths of a mile south of the Jefferson-Westfall-Emmitt Road, when he slowed down for a truck in the crossover.

FEESE's auto, also southbound, was struck in the rear by a car driven by Michael D. Cousins, 24, Chillicothe, who was also traveling south. The impact forced the Feese vehicle to strike the rear of Arledge's auto.

David E. Goehner, 57, Columbus, suffered lacerations and abrasions of the face and a back injury in a one-car mishap 9:45 p.m. Monday. He was traveling on Route 62, three-tenths of a mile north of the Mt. Sterling-Commercial Point Road, when he lost control of his car, went off the right side of the road, struck a fence and went down the embankment.

He was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

Daniel E. Patrick, 17, Route 1, Kingston, suffered a possible concussion and abrasions and contusions when his car struck a utility pole 1:45 a.m. Sunday on Route 56, one mile west of Route 159. He was admitted to Berger Hospital for treatment.

Deputy Sheriff Phil Brown handled all three investigations.

Barnett imposed a 9 p.m. to daylight curfew for the third day.

Officials said at least 400 persons were on the missing list, but Barnett added the list was shrinking "as the living find the missing and both of them report to us."

The number of injured was impossible to estimate, officials said.

The Army Corps of Engineers was keeping close watch on a dam near Sturgis, 25 miles north of Rapid City. Engineers said the dam, which holds 22 million gallons of water, was weakened by the torrential rains and that pumps were being used to relieve the pressure.

A BOOKWORM must of fouled the workings of the Pickaway County Library's Bookmobile . . . At least it is inoperable this week . . . Hopefully the regular schedule will be resumed next week.

TWO Circleville families breathed sighs of relief about 10 p.m. Monday when they finally heard from two sons camping in the Rapid City, S.D., area . . .

The boys are Doug Spangler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Spangler, 1028 Georgia Road, and Johnny Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Payne, 360 Nicholas Drive . . .

The boys, both 1972 grads of Circleville High School, are on a camping vacation . . . The families knew they were to be in the Black Hills over the weekend, and became quite worried when they did not hear from them . . .

They were actually camped at Mt. Rushmore about 18 miles from Rapid City, but the flood waters lapped the wheels of their camping van truck . . .

Roads to the area are all washed out and it may be two weeks before they can get the van out . . . But they are safe.

Five Persons Hurt In Road Mishaps

Five persons were injured in three separate highway accidents investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

A three-car collision 4:20 p.m. Monday resulted in injuries to Monte K. Arledge, 25, Chillicothe, Louis Willard Feese, 62, Barbourville, W. Va. and Roxie Jane Feese, 46, Barbourville, W. Va.

Arledge was referred to the doctor for treatment while the Feese couple were treated at Berger Hospital for neck injuries suffered in the mishap.

According to the report in the sheriff's department, Arledge was southbound on Route 23, eight-tenths of a mile south of the Jefferson-Westfall-Emmitt Road, when he slowed down for a truck in the crossover.

FEESE's auto, also southbound, was struck in the rear by a car driven by Michael D. Cousins, 24, Chillicothe, who was also traveling south. The impact forced the Feese vehicle to strike the rear of Arledge's auto.

David E. Goehner, 57, Columbus, suffered lacerations and abrasions of the face and a back injury in a one-car mishap 9:45 p.m. Monday. He was traveling on Route 62, three-tenths of a mile north of the Mt. Sterling-Commercial Point Road, when he lost control of his car, went off the right side of the road, struck a fence and went down the embankment.

He was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

Daniel E. Patrick, 17, Route 1, Kingston, suffered a possible concussion and abrasions and contusions when his car struck a utility pole 1:45 a.m. Sunday on Route 159. He was admitted to Berger Hospital for treatment.

Deputy Sheriff Phil Brown handled all three investigations.

The center represents much of Sears 86 years of experience in retail-catalog-fashion merchandise distribution. Designed by Sears with the assistance of independent engineers, it has one of the most modern materials-handling equipment and computerized stock control systems ever developed.

The center will serve around 250 retail stores, catalog sales offices and authorized catalog sales merchants in Ohio and southeastern Indiana, northern Kentucky, northwestern West Virginia, western Pennsylvania, extreme western New York and eastern lower Michigan.

Customer orders from units in this area will be teleyped to the center for computer processing and handling. The center should provide delivery

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC has launched what must be a summertime winner, pre-empting "Laugh-In" and movie broadcasts for 10 weeks of major league baseball games. A live game is a viewer's treasure when the competing channels are rerunning last winter's tales.

The opening game Monday night had the Detroit Tigers winning 2-1 over the Minnesota Twins at Bloomington, Minn. But NBC's problem was the pregame show, a innocuous enough timefiller on leisurely weekend afternoons, but an important element in holding prime-time viewers.

For the 15 minutes between 8 p.m. EDT and the game's start, something novel or slightly stimulating would have been nice.

NBC Sports, however, took the traditional road—into the archives for a bit of baseball nostalgia.

Considerably aided by old newsreel clips, Curt Gowdy narrated a crisp and pretty dull recollection of baseball coverage in the old radio days, evoking the name, voice and picture of Graham McNamee, Bill Stern, Paul Douglas and other earlier sportscasters.

It may have evoked some memories among the old timers, and it did plug an awkward gap, but it would have been more fun to find out what Marshal Dillon was up to.

ward gap, but it would have been more fun to find out what Marshal Dillon was up to.

CBS' first experiment with game shows in years will end at the end of the month. "The Amateur's Guide to Love" will depart after a minimum 13 weeks. CBS will replace it with one of its favorite standbys, a rerun of a nighttime situation comedy in this instance "My Three Sons."

The cancellation of the game show ends another attempt to wring some entertainment out of the concealed-camera gimmick which worked well for many years on "Candid Camera." The latter show was sometimes hilarious, but no one has ever been able to match its style and way-out practical jokes.

"Amateur's Guide to Love," with Gene Rayburn as host, was a flimsy effort in which a pretty girl or an attractive young man asked strangers of the opposite sex to make fools of themselves as they were steered right into focus.

Singer James Darren, for instance, approached girls, one by one, in a book shop and invited them to experiment in togetherness by joining him in a three-legged pair of slacks.

The result was a daily series that came out vulgar, phony and sort of desperate.

State Hospital Damaged By Fire

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The new security wing at Lima State Hospital received an estimated $55,000 in smoke damage Monday evening from a fire that broke out in a clothing room.

About 200 patients were evacuated safely after the fire was discovered. The only injury was to a hospital employee, Mike Brown, 27, who suffered minor burns.

Officials said 39 patients who were housed in the immediate area of the fire were temporarily assigned other quarters.

Cause of the blaze was not known. Officials said the state fire marshal's office had been asked to investigate.

Three Motorists Fined, Jailed By Judge For DWI

Three motorists were found guilty of driving while intoxicated by Circleville Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb Monday.

Court Won't Overrule Venue Change

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The status of trials for 30 former Lima State Hospital employees remained unclear today after an appellate court declined to overrule a change of venue order for 28 of them, but hinted the order might have been improper.

To add to the confusion, two defendants who had asked to be tried before three-judge panels decided they wanted jury trials and three who were to have jury trials asked if they could have judicial panels.

The 30 and one other former hospital attendant were indicted by a special state grand jury on charges of mistreating patients at the facility for the criminally insane.

The one case to have gone to trial ended with a directed verdict of acquittal.

The Third District Court of Appeals Monday rejected a defense appeal of the change of venue ordered handed down last Friday for 28 of the defendants because the order had not yet been officially filed in Allen County.

Erie County Judge James McCrystal, appointed by the Ohio Supreme Court to preside at the trials, issued the order in response to prosecution claims that news coverage had made a fair trial impossible in Allen County.

The presiding judge of the appeals court, Raymond Younger, noted that although the appeal itself was rejected, "we expressed some opinions on the merits of the case...and held that the Court of Common Pleas had no jurisdiction" to issue the order.

Thus, once the order is judicialized, defense attorneys can challenge it again, he said.

Chester I. Sutphin, 46, Columbus, was fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 45 days in jail and had his driving rights suspended three years. He was also fined $50 and costs for driving when he had no operators license.

Robert Leroy Turner, 21, Columbus, was fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in jail with 27 of the sentence suspended providing he pay his fine, and had his license suspended six months. The court noted it would return the license in 30 days if Turner acquired proper insurance. He is to serve the sentence on successive Saturdays.

John E. Rittenhouse, 42, Route 5, was fined $150 and costs with a 30-day jail sentence. The judge suspended 27 of the days providing the fine and costs are paid. Rittenhouse's license was suspended for 30 days.

William Kuhn, 27, Amanda, forfeited a $60 bond for operating a motor vehicle without regard for the safety of others. He was arrested June 8 for driving north on Route 316 with George Young laying

Ex-Astronaut Raises Bugs

SANTA PAULA, Calif. (AP) — Former-astronaut M. Scott Carpenter has become a bug breeder and says, "I admit the whole thing seems pretty far out."

The second American to orbit the earth has launched his bug-breeding firm, Integrated Biological Control Corp., in an abandoned cow shed.

Carpenter says he hopes to breed and sell 2 billion tiny wasps, called trichogramma, by the end of the year for use in the control of harmful insects.

"They're good bugs that feast on the eggs of bad bugs that destroy millions of dollars worth of crops each year," he said.

"With all the hell being raised about DDT and insecticides, biological control is a good place to invest money."

Rating Daughter's Suitors

NEW YORK (AP) — Many fathers of young daughters complain about either the quality or quantity of suitors who come knocking at their doors.

I have no problems on either score.

The suitors—if that's the right word—of my daughter Tracy Ann, who is nearly 19, are far better than this proud father feels she deserves. And as to quantity, they have been stumbling into our apartment like confused moths in limitless numbers since Tracy had her fifth birthday.

They have my sympathy. She treats them as a medieval Russian empress might treat a clumsy serf. I have always told Tracy that if her husband later wanted to run away from home because of this kind of treatment, I would lend him the money. She doesn't like much to hear me say that.

I called seldom at the homes of young ladies when I was a teen-ager, and the visits were always as brief as possible. I was shy and tongue-tied in the presence of parents, and felt their unspoken questioning of my evil intentions.

But the young men today who ring my front bell and try to make it sound like a circus callopie are no such social cripples. I envy them their breezy assurance. They have more self-confidence at 18 to 20 than I have at three score and one.

By and large, I like them very much. They dress like the inhabitants of a hobo jungle, but they are all clean. They are noisy, but there isn't a hop-head, weirdo or premature drunk in the lot. And not one of them has ever been lippy with me. This may be because my daughter has warned them all, "I am the daughter of an ogre—please don't give him any excuse to start shedding your blood."

Not one of these young commandos has showed up with a box of candy or bouquet of flowers. Now and then, however, one will arrive with a bouquet of pizza pie.

About half of the boys wear beards, and I call them all "Fuzzy." I asked one of the new bearded ones the other day, "Why did you grow a beard. Are you about to undertake the principal role in the Second Coming?" "No," he answered, "I'm simply traveling incognito this year."

All the clean-shaven ones over six feet tall I call "Jack," because the one I like best falls in that category.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC has launched what must be a summertime winner, pre-empting "Laugh-In" and movie broadcasts for 10 weeks of major league baseball games. A live game is a viewer's treasure when the competing channels are rerunning last winter's tales.

The opening game Monday night had the Detroit Tigers winning 2-1 over the Minnesota Twins at Bloomington, Minn. But NBC's problem was the pregame show, a innocuous enough timekiller on leisurely weekend afternoons, but an important element in holding prime-time viewers.

For the 15 minutes between 8 p.m. EDT and the game's start, something novel or slightly stimulating would have been nice.

NBC Sports, however, took the traditional road—into the archives for a bit of baseball nostalgia.

Considerably aided by old newsreel clips, Curt Gowdy narrated a crisp and pretty dull recollection of baseball coverage in the old radio days, evoking the name, voice and picture of Graham McNamee, Bill Stern, Paul Douglas and other earlier sportscasters.

It may have evoked some memories among the old timers, and it did plug an awkward gap, but it would have been more fun to find out what Marshal Dillon was up to.

ward gap, but it would have been more fun to find out what Marshal Dillon was up to.

CBS' first experiment with game shows in years will end at the end of the month. "The Amateur's Guide to Love" will depart after a minimum 13 weeks. CBS will replace it with one of its favorite standbys, a rerun of a nighttime situation comedy in this instance "My Three Sons."

The cancellation of the game show ends another attempt to wring some entertainment out of the concealed-camera gimmick which worked well for many years on "Candid Camera." The latter show was sometimes hilarious, but no one has ever been able to match its style and way-out practical jokes.

"Amateur's Guide to Love," with Gene Rayburn as host, was a flimsy effort in which a pretty girl or an attractive young man asked strangers of the opposite sex to make fools of themselves as they were steered right into focus.

Singer James Darren, for instance, approached girls, one by one, in a book shop and invited them to experiment in togetherness by joining him in a three-legged pair of slacks.

The result was a daily series that came out vulgar, phony and sort of desperate.

"Why do you call the others by Jack's name—that's not fair," said Tracy.

"Because he returns my neckties he borrows, is too big to wear my shirts, and gives me cigars for Christmas," I told her.

I secretly would like to have Jack for a son-in-law, but feel guilty about it. What responsible grown man would wish on a fine, upstanding, good-hearted boy like Jack a fate like that? After all, what kind of daughters do ogres have?

State Hospital

Damaged By Fire

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The new security wing at Lima State Hospital received an estimated $55,000 in smoke damage Monday evening from a fire that broke out in a clothing room.

About 200 patients were evacuated safely after the fire was discovered. The only injury was to a hospital employee, Mike Brown, 27, who suffered minor burns.

Officials said 39 patients who were housed in the immediate area of the fire were temporarily assigned other quarters.

Cause of the blaze was not known. Officials said the state fire marshal's office had been asked to investigate.

Three Motorists Fined, Jailed By Judge For DWI

Three motorists were found guilty of driving while intoxicated by Circleville Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb Monday.

Court Won't Overrule Venue Change

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The status of trials for 30 former Lima State Hospital employees remained unclear today after an appellate court declined to overrule a change of venue order for 28 of them, but hinted the order might have been improper.

To add to the confusion, two defendants who had asked to be tried before three-judge panels decided they wanted jury trials and three who were to have jury trials asked if they could have judicial panels.

The 30 and one other former hospital attendant were indicted by a special state grand jury on charges of mistreating patients at the facility for the criminally insane.

The one case to have gone to trial ended with a directed verdict of acquittal.

The Third District Court of Appeals Monday rejected a defense appeal of the change of venue ordered handed down last Friday for 28 of the defendants because the order had not yet been officially filed in Allen County.

Erie County Judge James McCrystal, appointed by the Ohio Supreme Court to preside at the trials, issued the order in response to prosecution claims that news coverage had made a fair trial impossible in Allen County.

The presiding judge of the appeals court, Raymond Younger, noted that although the appeal itself was rejected, "we expressed some opinions on the merits of the case...and held that the Court of Common Pleas had no jurisdiction" to issue the order.

Thus, once the order is journalized, defense attorneys can challenge it again, he said.

Chester I. Sutphin, 46, Columbus, was fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 45 days in jail and had his driving rights suspended three years. He was also fined $50 and costs for driving when he had no operators license.

Robert Leroy Turner, 21, Columbus, was fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in jail with 27 of the sentence suspended providing he pay his fine, and had his license suspended six months. The court noted it would return the license in 30 days if Turner acquired proper insurance. He is to serve the sentence on successive Saturdays.

John E. Rittenhouse, 42, Route 5, was fined $150 and costs with a 30-day jail sentence. The judge suspended 27 of the days providing the fine and costs are paid. Rittenhouse's license was suspended for 30 days.

JOBS In Trouble

A new hassle has developed within the executive branch of the federal government over the Job Opportunities in the Business Sector program. This is the plan to create employment in private industry which in recent years has been given higher priority than the Job Corps and the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

The JOBS program is financed by Washington and administered by the National Alliance of Businessmen. Started in 1966, the program has utilized more than $1 billion in federal funds.

Defects in the JOBS program have been uncovered by the General Accounting Office, but the latest criticism has come from an audit made by the Department of Labor. Among other criticisms the auditors said the program was too broadly based and permitted "excessive costs in those cases where an enrollee only required placement assistance."

Creation of artificial jobs to enhance employment opportunities for the unskilled is bound to create waste. The hope is that through training programs those enrolled can be utilized in more productive employment. Many of them are.

Whether enough of them are succeeding to warrant the outlay of funds is the subject of this latest critical examination.

Changes Aloft

The differences between a steward and stewardess may not impress every airline traveler, but undoubtedly some of them are going to be less than pleased at the latest change to take place in the airline cabin.

Two airlines — Eastern and Pan American World — have graduated the first steward classes in years and others say male attendants are welcome to apply. The numbers are small so far. Sixteen stewards have graduated into Pan Am uniforms and five at Eastern.

But the trend is underway and hundreds of male applications are reported to be pouring in. A court ruling last year brought the change, although some of the airlines say they were thinking about it anyway.

The idea is not really such an innovation, just a return to past practice. Male stewards were the rule rather than the exception on some lines from the early flights up to World War II, when male applicants became scarce.

Some seasoned travelers might even enjoy paying more attention to the flight plans they have been following all these years.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a widespread belief that increases in productivity are more difficult to obtain in the service industries, such as health, recreation, insurance and education than in the manufacture of goods.

And when it is noted that the United States economy is steadily becoming more service oriented—for the first time, more money was spent last year on services than on goods—the notion becomes mixed with concern.

It even leads to dire forecasts that the American quest for the good life, which is represented by the growth of services, may lead to a deterioration of the nation's competitive position.

A look at the figures would tend to confirm the fears. During the decade of the 1960s productivity in the services rose by an annual rate of about 2.3 per cent, compared with 3 per cent in manufacturing.

But that was past, and according to an acknowledged authority on service industries, John R. Beckett, it need not be the future. The efficiencies of volume he maintains, are not limited to the production of goods alone.

Any time you have a one-on-one effort, such as in the barber shop, you have limitations, Beckett concedes. But he also claims that many service jobs need not require one worker for each client although that is often the way they have been practiced in the past.

In the teaching of surgery, he states, there is no reason why students should be huddled around an operating table when vastly greater numbers could be just as effectively taught through the use of video tapes. Beckett believes that the future of productivity increases in services is highly dependent upon a marriage with manufacturing. Without machines, services would remain dependent upon human energy.

How do you improve the productivity of the barber, the automobile mechanic and the bus driver by improving machines, he was asked?

Beckett passed on the barber, although it isn't inconceivable that future barbers might be far more productive by relying upon chemical treatments where machinery fails them.

The automobile mechanic's productivity could be raised by the use of sophisticated diagnostic equipment. And the bus driver's output might be improved by not thinking of him as a bus driver but as a people mover operating more efficient mass transportation vehicles.

True, there will remain the need for one-on-one services, Beckett concedes, but he adds that often the limitations are in our conception of the job. In most instances, the economies of scale are available, he says.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I have been told that I am an "ulcer-type" personality, and if I don't change my habits I will surely get an ulcer.

I am in a highly tense business, and at the age of 45 I can't suddenly turn over a new leaf.

What can I do?

Mr. H.G., III.

Dear Mr. G:

The "ulcer-type" personality is generally structured after a person who is energetic, tense, high-strung, competitive, and ambitious. To this can be added the personality who does not express his feelings, and completely suppresses his emotions.

This generalized description is probably responsible for the cliché that "an ulcer is not what you eat, but rather what's eating you!"

Stomach ulcers and duodenal ulcers can also occur in people whose personality is the direct opposite of the one I just described. They can occur in emotionally stable, well-controlled, slow-moving personalities.

For this reason I do not believe it is fair to prophesy that anyone will inevitably develop an ulcer.

Patients can be induced to change their diet and work habits by reasonable medical advice rather than by unnecessarily introducing fear as a persuader.

Of course, you will benefit markedly by changing the tempo and the pressure of your daily work routine.

I suffer intense pain in the ear, especially in the morning. My doctor says that my teeth are at fault. I can't understand this since I have my teeth checked every six months.

Mrs. V.G., Mo.

Your doctor probably was referring to a malocclusion of your teeth, or an imperfect bite. This could account for changes in the jaw joint with referred pain to the ear.

The same nerve that goes to the jaw joint goes deep down into the outer ear canal and to the eardrum. Often no infection of the ear is present when a patient complains of a direct pain in the ear.

I would speculate that you are one of the many people who grind their teeth during the night and consequently put a strain on the jaw muscles. When they awake in the morning, intense pain can be referred to the ear, to the back of the head, and even down the side of the neck.

Jaw joint changes are known as "temporo-mandibular-joint dysfunction."

There are now specialists in the field of dentistry who concentrate on jaw disorders. With special X-ray techniques they are able to determine the exact relationship between the position of the teeth, the bite, and the jaw joint.

SALT And Congress

By JEFFERY HART

WASHINGTON (KFS) — In pressing editorially for quick, that is unreflective, Congressional approval of the SALT agreements by Congress, the New York Times has not balked at the statement of flat untruths. Thus a recent lead editorial stated boldly that the agreements "freeze" nuclear weapons at "more or less present levels."

It would be nice if it were true, but it isn't, and the times statement — to use a Swiftian periphrasis for lying — says the thing which is not.

One particular feature of the agreement on offensive weapons is making waves in Congress. The agreement permits the Soviets to retain their 313 SS-9 missiles. It is being noted so far privately, that these pack four times the payload of our largest missile, the Minuteman; and, further, that the Soviets are about to test a still more powerful missile.

In the figures given out by the Nixon Administration SALT freezes long-range missile numbers at 1054 (U.S.) and 1618 (U.S.S.R.) The Congressmen I have spoken with consider that they could go along with this ratio.

The joker, however, is that the 313 SS-9s are counted in the Soviet total as carrying one warhead apiece. The SALT agreement allows the Soviets five years within which they can, if they are able, equip the big missiles with multiple warheads. Each SS-9 is capable of holding 20 such warheads.

If the Soviets went ahead and did this, and it is perfectly legal under the SALT terms, they would have some 1,300 regular ICBMs, plus the SS-9s which would carry, by simple multiplication, 6,260 independently targeted warheads.

Thus, demonstrably, the SALT accords do not "freeze" nuclear levels. Strictly within the terms of the agreement the Soviets could vastly increase their capability, achieving a four or five-to-one ratio. This, furthermore, would give them a credible first-strike and/or blackmail capability.

Furthermore, if the Soviets did decide to seize such an advantage, they would present a U.S. President with an unattractive set of options: A) either to do nothing about it, or B) to abrogate the agreement and expand our own capacity. Option B would be greeted with worldwide opprobrium, and, to say the least, would be politically unappealing. Option A would involve ultimate perils.

Senators who can perform these elementary feats of arithmetic are determined to improve the SALT agreement by attaching reservations to it. At a minimum they would include the crucial reservation that the agreement on offensive weapons is null and void if the Soviets go ahead and equip their large missiles with multiple warheads. They do not see how the Administration could seriously object to such a stipulation, for to do so would imply that the White House is willing to accept a four or five-to-one ratio in ICBMs, which no one really believes. These Senators are not, in the main, against the agreements or opposed on principle to the idea of nuclear parity. They merely desire to save the Administration from its own sloppy staff work.

During the forthcoming hearings, moreover, some embarrassing things could easily come to light. The Joint Chiefs of Staff have so far maintained a public stance in support of the SALT agreements. At least one member of the Joint Chiefs, however, has spoken against them privately; and the Joint Chiefs are required, by oath, to inform the President of their actual judgment.

The odds are it is beginning to be felt on Capitol Hill, that the Administration will accept the necessary "reservations" to the agreement in order to avoid prolonged hearings and debate.

The House of Representatives opened the legislative week by passing a bill which I sponsored as a member of the Committee on Veterans' Affairs. The measure would create within the Veterans' Administration, (V.A.), a National Cemetery System consisting of cemeteries transferred to the V.A. from the Department of the Army, cemeteries presently under V.A. jurisdiction and all cemeteries on military posts. It would continue the American Battle Monuments Commission under which the V.A. maintains military burial grounds, monuments and memorials located in foreign countries.

Veterans not buried in a national or other federal cemetery are presently eligible for a $250 allowance for burial and funeral expenses. The bill would increase the total allowance by $150. By request, the V.A. would also be authorized to furnish a headstone for unmarked graves of those veterans buried in a federal cemetery.

In keeping with longstanding tradition, the measure provides for the burial of an unknown soldier of the Southeast Asia War in Arlington Cemetery.

On Monday, the House also passed three bills designed to help preserve important segments of our natural heritage.

The first measure would amend the North Pacific Fisheries Act of 1954 to improve the U.S. administration of the National Convention for the High Seas Fisheries of the North Pacific Ocean. This matter deals with an international agreement signed in 1952 by the United States, Canada, and Japan. The convention is designed to promote and coordinate those scientific studies necessary to formulate conservation measures required to insure continued productivity of commercial fishing in the Northern Pacific. This will assist important multinational cooperation to protect a vital resource of all Pacific maritime nations.

The second measure would establish the Seal Branch National Wildlife Refuge. This consists of a tidal slough that is the last pristine saltwater marsh on the Southern California coast. Due to man's encroachment it is all that remains of a much larger estuarine network. It is the spawning and nursing area for over fifteen species of fish and a feeding and resting site for migratory water birds. Several species are on the Interior Department's rare and endangered species list.

The third conservation bill would improve and strengthen the enforcement provisions of a law passed last year which makes it unlawful for anyone to shoot at birds or other animals from an aircraft. This will help preserve several endangered wild species and hawks and eagles.

On Tuesday the House debated and on Wednesday passed an appropriation bill to provide operating funds for the municipal government in Washington, D.C. Since most of the property in Washington is owned by the federal or a foreign government, the normal property tax base is greatly reduced as a revenue source for the city. Therefore, the Congress each year makes up the difference so that the District government can maintain municipal services in a manner befitting the Capitol of the United States.

During the week two appropriation authorization measures were considered. One would authorize funds for the various functions of the Atomic Energy Commission and the other authorization would provide monies for the Peace Corp.

Probably the most significant legislative business of the week was the adoption of the Conference Report which would amend the Higher Education Act of 1965, the Vocational Education Act of 1963, and the General Education Provisions Act as well as the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. All of these various acts were combined into a single bill.

After heated debate, mostly centering around the busing provision, the House adopted the conference report in a close vote. The House had included a provision which would deny funds for busing. The Senate had included funds for busing to effect a racial balance. The compromise, in effect, allows school districts to determine if it is in the best interest of that particular school system to have integrated schools as a comprehensive district drive plan.

JOBS In Trouble

A new hassle has developed within the executive branch of the federal government over the Job Opportunities in the Business Sector program. This is the plan to create employment in private industry which in recent years has been given higher priority than the Job Corps and the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

The JOBS program is financed by Washington and administered by the National Alliance of Businessmen. Started in 1966, the program has utilized more than $1 billion in federal funds.

Defects in the JOBS program have been uncovered by the General Accounting Office, but the latest criticism has come from an audit made by the Department of Labor. Among other criticisms the auditors said the program was too broadly based and permitted "excessive costs in those cases where an enrollee only required placement assistance."

Creation of artificial jobs to enhance employment opportunities for the unskilled is bound to create waste. The hope is that through training programs those enrolled can be utilized in more productive employment. Many of them are.

Whether enough of them are succeeding to warrant the outlay of funds is the subject of this latest critical examination.

Changes Aloft

The differences between a steward and stewardess may not impress every airline traveler, but undoubtedly some of them are going to be less than pleased at the latest change to take place in the airline cabin.

Two airlines — Eastern and Pan American World — have graduated the first steward classes in years and others say male attendants are welcome to apply. The numbers are small so far. Sixteen stewards have graduated into Pan Am uniforms and five at Eastern.

But the trend is underway and hundreds of male applications are reported to be pouring in. A court ruling last year brought the change, although some of the airlines say they were thinking about it anyway.

The idea is not really such an innovation, just a return to past practice. Male stewards were the rule rather than the exception on some lines from the early flights up to World War II, when male applicants became scarce.

Some seasoned travelers might even enjoy paying more attention to the flight plans they have been following all these years.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I have been told that I am an "ulcer-type" personality, and if I don't change my habits I will surely get an ulcer.

I am in a highly tense business, and at the age of 45 I can't suddenly turn over a new leaf.

What can I do?
Mr. H.G., Ill.
Dear Mr. G:
The "ulcer-type" personality is generally structured after a person who is energetic, tense, high-strung, competitive, and ambitious. To this can be added the personality who does not express his feelings, and completely suppresses his emotions.

This generalized description is probably responsible for the cliché that "an ulcer is not what you eat, but rather what's eating you!"

Stomach ulcers and duodenal ulcers can also occur in people whose personality is the direct opposite of the one I just described. They can occur in emotionally stable, well-controlled, slow-moving personalities.

For this reason I do not believe it is fair to prophesy that anyone will inevitably develop an ulcer.

Patients can be induced to change their diet and work habits by reasonable medical advice rather than by unnecessarily introducing fear as a persuader.

Of course, you will benefit markedly by changing the tempo and the pressure of your daily work routine.

I suffer intense pain in the ear, especially in the morning. My doctor says that my teeth are at fault. I can't understand this since I have my teeth checked every six months.

Mrs. V.G., Mo.

Your doctor probably was referring to a malocclusion of your teeth, or an imperfect bite. This could account for changes in the jaw joint with referred pain to the ear.

The same nerve that goes to the jaw joint goes deep down into the outer ear canal and to the eardrum. Often no infection of the ear is present when a patient complains of a direct pain in the ear.

I would speculate that you are one of the many people who grind their teeth during the night and consequently put a strain on the jaw muscles. When they awake in the morning, intense pain can be referred to the ear, to the back of the head, and even down the side of the neck.

Jaw joint changes are known as "temporo-mandibular-joint dysfunction."

There are now specialists in the field of dentistry who concentrate on jaw disorders. With special X-ray techniques they are able to determine the exact relationship between the position of the teeth, the bite, and the jaw joint.

Vows Suit After FBI Wrecks Home

MASSAPEQUA, N.Y. (AP) — A Long Island homeowner has threatened to sue the government after federal agents left his $65,000 house in shambles searching in vain for $4 million.

FBI agents spent three days at John Conforti's home, hunting for what they believed were the proceeds of an international drug smuggling ring.

They dug up his back yard and broke through the walls, floors and ceilings of every room. Shingles and aluminum siding were pulled from the house. Furniture was smashed. No money was found.

"A search warrant gives them a right to search," said Conforti's lawyer. "I don't know that they have a right to search and destroy. This is not yet Vietnam."

The lawyer, Marving Zevink, said he was contemplating suing to recover damages and requesting proper authorities to take criminal action "against these agents who acted under color of law and destroyed the house."

Conforti recently put up the house and some cash toward the $250,000 bail of his brother-in-law, convicted narcotics smuggler Louis Cirillo. Last April agents found about $1 million cash buried in the yard and stashed in the cellar of Cirillo's Bronx home.

Cirillo was believed to have had nearly $5 million in cash stashed away at the time of his arrest. He has been sentenced to 25 years in prison.

"In the 22 years I've been married, I've only met my wife's brother eight or 10 times," Conforti said. He said he had backed up the bail "simply because he's my wife's oldest brother."

Dear Abby: Taking The 'X' Out Of Movies

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Everybody keeps talking about how dirty the movies are nowadays, but nobody does anything about it.

I think that every time we see an "X" or "R" rated movie advertised, we should write to the president of the studio that made that movie and tell him that this is one movie our family will not be seeing. And when they start making clean movies, we will be glad to see them.

If you printed this letter Abby and people all across the country started writing letters, do you think it might help to get all this raw sex out of the movies?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: It might. But how do we get the "raw sex" out of the balconies and drive-ins?

DEAR ABBY: We are grandparents in our sixties. We have two married children who live in a city not too far from us. We never go there uninvited, so it cannot be said that we make pests of ourselves.

We have heard that they have come to our city to shop, or visit, but they haven't even bothered to call us. We have the usual family get-together at our home for Christmas and Easter, but they never stay very long, and we are made to feel that they regard it more a duty than a pleasure to be with us.

We send them and our grandchildren gifts, which are seldom acknowledged.

What has happened to the manner and Christian love we taught them? We denied ourselves many things so they could both have good educations to prepare them for the fine professions they now practice so successfully.

On those few occasions when we go to their homes they do not even have the courtesy to see us to the door when we leave.

Please, Abby, tell us where we have failed?

UNAPPRECIATED AND NEGLECTED

DEAR U AND N: Don't assume that YOU have failed. THEY have failed. Occupy yourself with other things and don't dwell on their lack of appreciation and neglect. If the calamity doesn't overcome you, feeling sorry for yourself will.

DEAR ABBY: While at the grocery store this morning, a woman struck up a conversation with me about my baby girl, who was in the infant seat on my shopping cart.

The lady asked me how old she was and when I said, "Two and a half months," she acted horrified and then she went into this long-winded speech about how fat she was, and asked if my doctor had put her on a diet yet because her grandson had the same "problem!"

Abby, my baby got a very healthy start in life (11 pounds, three ounces at birth), and she weighs 14 pounds now and doesn't look like a slob. On the contrary, my doctor is very pleased with her progress.

I admit that my baby does look older than she is, because she's larger than most babies her age; but I don't appreciate hearing that I should "do something" about her "infant obesity." This isn't the first time this has happened. If it happens again, what should I say to shut them up?

PROUD MOTHER
DEAR PROUD: Say, "Thank you, but my doctor tells me my child is just fine." Then head for the frozen food section.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: The person who says he isn't "interested" in politics is like the drowning man who says he isn't interested in water. NOW is the time to make sure you are registered so you can vote. And if you aren't happy with the way things are going on in this country, and you haven't voted, don't complain.

8 Injured In Logan Tire Plant Blast

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — An explosion at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. plant in Logan injured eight persons Monday night, two of them seriously.

The other six injured were treated at hospitals near Logan.

May Appeal Dismissal Of Charges

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Lawrence County Prosecutor William Kennedy says he is studying the possibility of appealing a judge's decision to quash 21 indictments against Sheriff James Howell.

"I haven't made an exhaustive search yet to determine if we have grounds, but if I find we have we will appeal," Kennedy said.

Common Pleas Judge Warren Earhart dismissed the indictments Monday, saying in his order that Kennedy and an assistant made prejudicial remarks to the grand jury that returned the indictments.

Kennedy said the order probably had the effect of quashing all 182 indictments returned by the grand jury. "If he (the judge) follows the same reasoning, I assume it would include the other indictments too," he said.

Earhart said Kennedy told the jury that 12 affirmative votes were needed to obtain a true bill. He said this constituted an irregularity, since there is no such requirement in law.

The judge said the case could be resubmitted to the September term of the grand jury. He continued Howell's $2,000 property bond until Sept. 3 pending further action by Kennedy.

Howell was indicted on 12 counts alleging larceny by trick, seven charging bribery, one count of assault with a dangerous weapon and one of converting to his own use property he had obtained in the performance of his official duties.

Salvation Army Officer Dies Aiding Flood Victims

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — Joy Medley and her husband Bill were Salvation Army majors at Rapid City when the flood hit. Now, she is staying busy helping the living victims and he is one of the more than 200 who died when waters swept through the town.

"The last I heard from him was about 8 o'clock Friday night when he yelled, 'Honey, I am going out to Story Book Island to see if I can help,'" Mrs. Medley said Sunday.

Story Book Island is a park hit by 5-foot-deep flood water.

"He was doing what the Lord called him to do when he died," she said. "He was going to where he was needed. I'm sure many people in the community grieve him. He was needed here."

Mrs. Medley, who said she had slept little and eaten nothing since Friday night, was supervising the Salvation Army clothing and food distribution center Sunday, the same job she held when informed Saturday night of his death. And she said she was sticking with the relief work until the emergency is over, then continue their church and charity work.

Salvation Army Maj. William G. "Bill" Medley, 50, had removed the camper from the family pickup to help assist rescue efforts after a warning was sounded of the impending flood Friday night.

"I know he was going to help someone when the flood waters caught him," his widow said. "He had the keys to the truck in his pocket. They never found the truck."

Bill Medley had been an officer in the Salvation Army 24 years this month.

"I grew up in a Salvation Army family," Mrs. Medley said. "My parents started the Salvation Army church in Columbia City, Ind., and when we were kids Bill started coming to our Sunday School classes. We went together, and when he got out of the Army we were married."

"We were commissioned at the same time" in the Salvation Army, she said. They served in Indiana for 11 years and then at Fergus Falls and Fairmont, Minn., and at Williston, N.D., before moving to Rapid City two years ago.

"Bill was an avid outdoorsman and he knew this area like a book," she recalled. "If there were any way to escape that flood, he would have known it."

Dear Abby: Taking The 'X' Out Of Movies

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Everybody keeps talking about how dirty the movies are nowadays, but nobody does anything about it. I think that every time we see an "X" or "R" rated movie advertised, we should write to the president of the studio that made that movie and tell him that this is one movie our family will not be seeing. And when they start making clean movies, we will be glad to see them.

If you printed this letter Abby and people all across the country started writing letters, do you think it might help to get all this raw sex out of the movies?

DISGUSTED
DEAR DISGUSTED: It might. But how do we get the "raw sex" out of the balconies and drive-ins?

DEAR ABBY: We are grandparents in our sixties. We have two married children who live in a city not too far from us. We never go there uninvited, so it cannot be said that we make pests of ourselves.

We have heard that they have come to our city to shop, or visit, but they haven't even bothered to call us. We have the usual family get-together at our home for Christmas and Easter, but they never stay very long, and we are made to feel that they regard it more a duty than a pleasure to be with us.

We send them and our grandchildren gifts, which are seldom acknowledged.

What has happened to the manner and Christian love we taught them? We denied ourselves many things so they could both have good educations to prepare them for the fine professions they now practice so successfully.

On those few occasions when we go to their homes they do not even have the courtesy to see us to the door when we leave.

Please, Abby, tell us where we have failed?

UNAPPRECIATED AND NEGLECTED

DEAR U AND N: Don't assume that YOU have failed. THEY have failed. Occupy yourself with other things and don't dwell on their lack of appreciation and neglect. If the calamity doesn't overcome you, feeling sorry for yourself will.

DEAR ABBY: While at the grocery store this morning, a woman struck up a conversation with me about my baby girl, who was in the infant seat on my shopping cart.

The lady asked me how old she was and when I said, "Two and a half months," she acted horrified and then she went into this long-winded speech about how fat she was, and asked if my doctor had put her on a diet yet because her grandson had the same "problem!"

Abby, my baby got a very healthy start in life (11 pounds, three ounces at birth), and she weighs 14 pounds now and doesn't look like a slob. On the contrary, my doctor is very pleased with her progress.

I admit that my baby does look older than she is, because she's larger than most babies her age; but I don't appreciate hearing that I should "do something" about her "infant obesity." This isn't the first time this has happened. If it happens again, what should I say to shut them up?

PROUD MOTHER

DEAR PROUD: Say, "Thank you, but my doctor tells me my child is just fine." Then head for the frozen food section.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: The person who says he isn't "interested" in politics is like the drowning man who says he isn't interested in water. NOW is the time to make sure you are registered so you can vote. And if you aren't happy with the way things are going on in this country, and you haven't voted, don't complain.

8 Injured In Logan Tire Plant Blast

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — An explosion at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. plant in Logan injured eight persons Monday night, two of them seriously.

Leonard Burns, 31, of Logan, was listed in critical condition early today at University Hospital in Columbus. The hospital said Mark Mechem, 23, of Nelsonville, was in satisfactory condition.

The other six injured were treated at hospitals near Logan.

May Appeal Dismissal Of Charges

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Lawrence County Prosecutor William Kennedy says he is studying the possibility of appealing a judge's decision to Sherif James Howell.

"I haven't made an exhaustive search yet to determine if we have grounds, but if I find we have we will appeal," Kennedy said.

Common Pleas Judge Warren Earhart dismissed the indictments Monday, saying in his order that Kennedy and an assistant made prejudicial remarks to the grand jury that returned the indictments.

Kennedy said the order probably had the effect of quashing all 182 indictments returned by the grand jury. "If he (the judge) follows the same reasoning, I assume it would include the other indictments too," he said.

Earhart said Kennedy told the jury that 12 affirmative votes were needed to obtain a true bill. He said this constituted an irregularity, since there is no such requirement in law.

The judge said the case could be resubmitted to the September term of the grand jury. He continued Howell's $2,000 property bond until Sept. 3 pending further action by Kennedy.

Howell was indicted on 12 counts alleging larceny by trick, seven charging bribery, one count of assault with a dangerous weapon and one of converting to his own use property he had obtained in the performance of his official duties.

Parents Can Use 'Muscle' To Prevent Using Drugs

DIRECTOR — Dr. Mitchell S. Rosenthal, director of Phoenix House, a system of therapeutic communities for drug users, says parents do not have to be drug experts to set down clear limits and values for their children and thus help prevent them from using drugs.

By PEACE MOFFAT
AP Newsfeature Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Parents need to set values, limits, clear approval and clear disapproval of their children's actions, especially where drugs are concerned, says Dr. Mitchell S. Rosenthal, director of Phoenix House, the nation's largest system of therapeutic communities for drug addicts.

"And they must not give into peer pressure either," he adds. "It's almost as though by discovering peer pressure parents have given up their own muscle — muscle which can be emotional, financial and legal."

"We live in a time of technical experts and parents have felt the drug problem is so complex and so technical it will take drug experts to solve it. But there is no reason for parents to tolerate addiction," Rosenthal says.

To help show parents the "muscle" they can exert in preventing their children from using drugs, Rosenthal has written a book, "Drugs, Parents and Children, The Three-Way Connection." He says he felt such a book was necessary after watching the average age of residents at Phoenix House drop from 28 to 21, with many drug users even younger.

The doctor notes that parents spend too much time trying to distinguish between which drugs are more harmful than others, and which drugs their children might be using and points out that such reasoning is ineffective. "Ten years ago, if a child had come home drunk every night, his parents would have felt they had to do something about it — without caring if he was getting drunk on Scotch or on bourbon," he says.

Rosenthal also says the rising drug rate is "inseparable from the fact that people think no matter what's wrong with them, there is some chemical that will fix it." Parents can combat this attitude, he says, by not abusing drugs, including alcohol, sleeping pills or tranquilizers, in their own homes.

Pointing out that in New York much of the money available for fighting drug abuse goes to methadone maintenance programs, Rosenthal insists, "I am in no way in favor of making more drugs available. Drug use begets drug use. In a drug-oriented society, the answer you come up with for addiction is another drug. But I feel that's just buying our need for a quick answer."

Rosenthal says it's also become more "in vogue" for parents not to be demanding with their children — "to let them make whatever choices they want given enough intellectual information." This is one attitude, he says, that can lead to drug use.

"I don't think the modern parent is bad," he says, "but

Parents Can Use 'Muscle' To Prevent Using Drugs

DIRECTOR — Dr. Mitchell S. Rosenthal, director of Phoenix House, a system of therapeutic communities for drug users, says parents do not have to be drug experts to set down clear limits and values for their children and thus help prevent them from using drugs.

By PEACE MOFFAT
AP Newsfeature Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Parents need to set values, limits, clear approval and clear disapproval of their children's actions, especially where drugs are concerned, says Dr. Mitchell S. Rosenthal, director of Phoenix House, the nation's largest system of therapeutic communities for drug addicts.

"And they must not give into peer pressure either," he adds. "It's almost as though by discovering peer pressure parents have given up their own muscle — muscle which can be emotional, financial and legal."

"We live in a time of technical experts and parents have felt the drug problem is so complex and so technical it will take drug experts to solve it. But there is no reason for parents to tolerate addiction," Rosenthal says.

To help show parents the "muscle" they can exert in preventing their children from using drugs, Rosenthal has written a book, "Drugs, Parents and Children, The Three-Way Connection." He says he felt such a book was necessary after watching the average age of residents at Phoenix House drop from 28 to 21, with many drug users even younger.

The doctor notes that parents spend too much time trying to distinguish between which drugs are more harmful than others, and which drugs their children might be using and points out that such reasoning is ineffective. "Ten years ago, if a child had come home drunk every night, his parents would have felt they had to do something about it — without caring if he was getting drunk on Scotch or on bourbon," he says.

Rosenthal also says the rising drug rate is "inseparable from the fact that people think no matter what's wrong with them, there is some chemical that will fix it." Parents can combat this attitude, he says, by not abusing drugs, including alcohol, sleeping pills or tranquilizers, in their own homes.

Pointing out that in New York much of the money available for fighting drug abuse goes to methadone maintenance programs, Rosenthal insists, "I am in no way in favor of making more drugs available. Drug use begets drug use. In a drug-oriented society, the answer you come up with for addiction is another drug. But I feel that's just buying our need for a quick answer."

Rosenthal says it's also become more "in vogue" for parents not to be demanding with their children — "to let them make whatever choices they want given enough intellectual information." This is one attitude, he says, that can lead to drug use.

"I don't think the modern parent is bad," he says, "but that he is unwittingly doing his children a disservice by taking off the demands and giving license. In childhood, a child has to learn to grow in the adult world, not have the adult world modify itself to suit the world of the child."

Other problems he points out that may lead to drug use are that the period of adolescence has been extended by lengthened schooling, making youngsters dependent and unproductive in society for a longer period; the turbulence around sexual experimentation; and the rapid biological development and growth of youth with associated awkwardness.

"Young people are caught on two polar points of wanting to be taken care of and yet move in another direction. They're hungry for approval from their peer group, but they still want approval from their parents," he says. Parents can help their children stay away from drugs, Rosenthal maintains, by staying in close touch with them, knowing their peer groups and setting down a rule of "No Drugs."

"If, after a long time, you have been a good role model in not abusing drugs, including alcohol and tranquilizers, after you have said, 'I will not allow you to use drugs,' and you still find your child is either disobeying you or testing your limits," Rosenthal says, "You must go the next step — to use the courts, to stop offering financial support, or to put your child out of the house. This has got to be done, not to be vindictive, but really to fight for getting your child into treatment."

Rosenthal is pessimistic about the increasing use of methadone. "I think we'll go the whole route with it, then discover it won't work and come back and say, 'We won't permit people to be addicts.'"

But he is optimistic about young people's attitudes. "I

Texan Ready To Purchase Memphis Pros

NEW YORK (AP) — There's a buyer ready to shell out $1.2 million for the Memphis Pros, one of the three insolvent franchises in the American Basketball Association.

But if Langdon "Zip" Viracola can't buy the Pros now, he may take his cash and go home to Dallas.

The ABA's board of trustees resumes its annual meeting today and it promises to be a stormy session.

The sale of the Pros most likely will be the first item of discussion for the trustees, who failed to reach any decision following two sessions Monday. After they resolve the Pros' issue, the trustees will tackle the future of the league's two other weak franchises, the Pittsburgh Condors and the Floridians.

Reports circulated Monday that the Condors would be moved to New Haven, Conn., and the Floridians would be shifted to Montreal for the 1972-3 season.

The Memphis problem, however, could be the most difficult to settle.

The Pros are a community-owned team, with more than 4,600 stockholders, each of whom paid $5 a share when owner P. L. Blake withdrew during the 1970-71 season. The stockholders' outpouring of money saved the team then.

For the Pros to be sold now, approval must be given by 55 per cent of the stockholders, who hold the majority shares. Under Tennessee law, it would take 10 days to call a stockholders' meeting.

Viracola is not interested in waiting that long for approval. He wants immediate action.

Before the trustees' sessions Monday, there was some doubt that the young league would continue to operate with 11 teams next season. But after the meetings, the mood changed and there appeared optimism that the ABA again would have 11 clubs, although not in the same sites.

Tribe Dumps Cincy, 5-4

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Indians open a nine-game road trip tonight against the California Angels in Anaheim, Calif., after pleasing 24,448 fans with a 5-4 exhibition victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Monday night's game for the benefit of area sandlot baseball was the American League club's second triumph over the Reds this season. The Indians whipped their National League state rivals 4-0 in an exhibition in the Queen City on April 20.

Pitcher Ray Lamb's first pitch of the game resulted in a leadoff ninth inning home run by Hal McRae to tie the game at 4-4, but Lamb won the game in the bottom of the ninth with an infield single.

Lamb's high infield bouncer followed a two-run error by Reds' center fielder Cesar Geronimo on Frank Duffy's leadoff single.

Braves Win 7-5 As Mets Turn Back Clock

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Once upon a time, there was a baseball team—a very bad baseball team—called the New York Mets. This particular baseball team had a very difficult time with the national pastime.

After many years of very bad baseball, this team started to change. Soon, it became respectable and even won a world championship. But no matter how successful it became, this team always remembered its humble beginnings.

The Mets got nostalgic in the eighth inning of Monday night's game at Atlanta and in a spectacular recreation of their early, zany years, they delivered an 8-7 victory to the Braves. Elsewhere on Monday's abbreviated schedule in the National League, Houston downed Montreal 3-1 and St. Louis edged Los Angeles 3-2.

In the American League, Detroit nipped Minnesota 2-1, Texas whacked Milwaukee 7-1 and Baltimore blanked Oakland 1-0.

New York used home runs by John Milner, Wayne Garrett, Rusty Staub and Ken Boswell to build a 7-4 lead as the Braves came to bat in the eighth. With Tug McGraw working in relief of Gary Gentry, Atlanta bunched three singles by Ralph Garr, Rico Carty and Hank Aaron for one run.

Then the nostalgia hit. Darrell Evans attempted to sacrifice Aaron and pinch runner Sony Jackson along. He bunted towards first base and Cleon Jones threw to Garrett at third, trying for the force. The play looked good except for one thing. Garrett forgot to catch the ball.

Aaron and Jackson both scored, tying the game and Evans wound up on third base.

Next, rookie Dusty Baker lofted a fly ball to center and Tommie Agee angled over for it as Evans tagged up, getting ready to try and score. It looked like it would be a close play at the plate except for one thing. Agee forgot to catch the ball.

The loss tumbled New York out of first place in the National League East.

Jerry Reuss scattered six hits, pitching Houston past Montreal.

Lee May cracked out of a slump with three hits for the Astros who bounced from behind against the Expos.

Lou Brock singled home St. Louis' winning run in the fifth inning and then made a sparkling catch to shut out a Los Angeles rally in the seventh.

Reggie Cleveland earned the victory with a four-hit effort, besetting Bill Singer.

Circleville Pigeon Club Holds 7th Race

The Circleville Pigeon Club held its seventh race of the 1972 Old Bird Series from McKenzie, Tenn., with 70 birds from seven lofts competing in the 400-mile event.

John Hoffman's Loft took first place, Bird and Loft Derbys with a speed of 569.088 yards per minute.

Hager Blevins' Loft was second and third with times of 551.158 YPM and 542.800 YPM. John Grabins' Loft was fourth in 517.401 YPM.

Baltimore Gives Vida 1-0 Blues

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vida Blue's fastball is alive and humming in Oakland. Too bad the same can't be said of the A's bats whenever he pitches.

"I hope one of these games I pitch, the A's get some hits and runs," said Blue after losing a heart-breaking 1-0 game to Pat Dobson and the Baltimore Orioles Monday night.

Considering recent developments, Blue has every right to feel that way.

Winner of the Cy Young Award and Most Valuable Player in the American League last year, Blue came back late this year after contract difficulties and hadn't had much support since.

In 25 innings, the left-hander has been backed by a grand total of one run and hasn't won a game in three decisions because of it.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday, the Detroit Tigers defeated the Minnesota Twins 2-1 and the Texas Rangers swamped the Milwaukee Brewers 7-1.

Th largest crowd to catch the A's since they moved west from Kansas City—50,182. The enormous crowd also saw Dobson pitch one of the best games of his career, a powerhouse three-hitter.

Don Buford collected one of only five hits off Blue in his eight innings of work, but it was a big one—a single in the eighth that knocked in the game's only run.

Norm Cash and Mickey Stanley cracked home runs while Joe Niekro and Fred Scherman pitched out of constant trouble in Detroit's victory.

Cash connected off Bert Blyleven with one out in the second inning to give Detroit a 1-0 lead while Stanley unloaded off the Minnesota righthander to break a 1-1 tie in the fourth.

Mike Paul and Casey Cox teamed for a three-hitter and Don Mincher hit a home run and double, driving in four runs, as Texas defeated Milwaukee.

Paul, making only his second start of the season, allowed but two hits in seven innings. After the starter tired, Cox came on

Elks, American Legion Nab Victories In LL Major Tilts

The Elks blasted Purina, 19-7, and American Legion rapped Bingham Drugs, 12-7, in Little League Major contests Monday.

Torren Bensonhaver hurled the wins for the Elks. He gave up four hits, walked eight and struck out 13.

Tom Logan and Todd Mancini shared mound duties for Purina. They allowed 13 hits, walked 10 and fanned eight.

Mark Skinner led the Elk hitters with a triple and double, Butch McFarland added a double and single, Marc Albright cracked a two-bagger and single, Scott Sanders rapped a double, Joe Mogan and Chuck Boltenhouse each had a pair of singles while Tim Herron and John Harr had a single apiece for the winners.

Rocky Schwalbaugh blasted a homerun for Purina and Logan smashed a pair of triples and a single in the losing cause.

Don Hill gave up five hits and fanned 10 for the inning Legion nine. Scott Willoughby was the losing hurler, giving up 10 hits and fanning nine.

Tom McGuire led the Legion at the plate with a homerun, double and two singles, David Marshall added a four-bagger and single, Bruce Hannigan cracked a roundtripper, David Holbrook connected for a pair of doubles and Beckley ripped a single for the winners.

Jim Edgington cracked a four-bagger for the Druggists, and Denny Costello, Willoughby, Bob Bevins and John Davis lashed singles for the losers.

Stoutsville Rips Washington, 30-6

Stoutsville rapped 21 hits to crush Washington, 30-6, in Tri County Action.

Phil Dickey hurled two-hit ball to gain the victory. Green and Wertman had the hits for Washington.

Scanlan was the losing pitcher for Washington.

Ronnie Johnson had a homerun, triple and two singles to pace Stoutsville. Brent Smith had a four-bagger and five singles, Keith Riddle added a homer and single, Mark Morrison had two triples and a pair of singles, K. C. Kern a double and two singles, Dickey cracked a double and single, Tatman rapped four singles while Valentine and Marshall each had a one-bagger for the winners.

Horseshoe Contest Set At Kingston

A horseshoe pitching contest will be held in conjunction with the Kingston Geranium Festival, June 21, 22, 23 and 24.

There will be competition in Men's Class A-B-C-D, Women's Class and Youth's Class with trophies awarded to the first three places in all classes.

Qualifying rounds will begin 11 a.m. June 17 at Kingston Park.

Further information may be obtained from Michael Barnes, Kingston, phone 642-2066.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Lightly regarded Temple gets a chance tonight to stop the Arizona State college baseball juggernaut.

The top-ranked Sun Devils blanked defending two-time champion Southern California 3-0 Monday night to become the tournament's only unbeaten of the four left from a field of eight.

Then the nostalgia hit. Darrell Evans attempted to sacrifice Aaron and pinch runner Sony Jackson along. He bunted towards first base and Cleon Jones threw to Garrett at third, trying for the force. The play looked good except for one thing. Garrett forgot to catch the ball.

Aaron and Jackson both scored, tying the game and Evans wound up on third base.

Next, rookie Dusty Baker lofted a fly ball to center and Tommie Agee angled over for it as Evans tagged up, getting ready to try and score. It looked like it would be a close play at the plate except for one thing. Agee forgot to catch the ball.

The loss tumbled New York out of first place in the National League East.

Jerry Reuss scattered six hits, pitching Houston past Montreal.

Lee May cracked out of a slump with three hits for the Astros who bounced from behind against the Expos.

Lou Brock singled home St. Louis' winning run in the fifth inning and then made a sparkling catch to shut out a Los Angeles rally in the seventh.

Reggie Cleveland earned the victory with a four-hit effort, besing Bill Singer.

Baltimore Gives Vida 1-0 Blues

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Vida Blue's fastball is alive and humming in Oakland. Too bad the same can't be said of the A's bats whenever he pitches.

"I hope one of these games I pitch, the A's get some hits and runs," said Blue after losing a heart-breaking 1-0 game to Pat Dobson and the Baltimore Orioles Monday night.

Considering recent developments, Blue has every right to feel that way.

Winner of the Cy Young Award and Most Valuable Player in the American League last year, Blue came back late this year after contract difficulties and hadn't had much support since.

In 25 innings, the left-hander has been backed by a grand total of one run and hasn't won a game in three decisions because of it.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday, the Detroit Tigers defeated the Minnesota Twins 2-1 and the Texas Rangers swamped the Milwaukee Brewers 7-1.

Th largest crowd to catch the A's since they moved west from Kansas City—50,182. The enormous crowd also saw Dobson pitch one of the best games of his career, a powerhouse three-hitter.

Don Buford collected one of only five hits off Blue in his eight innings of work, but it was a big one—a single in the eighth that knocked in the game's only run.

Norm Cash and Mickey Stanley cracked home runs while Joe Mauer and Fred Scherman pitched out of constant trouble in Detroit's victory.

Cash connected off Bert Blyleven with one out in the second inning to give Detroit a 1-0 lead while Stanley unloaded off the Minnesota righthander to break a 1-1 tie in the fourth.

Mike Paul and Casey Cox teamed for a three-hitter and Don Mincher hit a home run and double, driving in four runs, as Texas defeated Milwaukee.

Paul, making only his second start of the season, allowed but two hits in seven innings. After the starter tired, Cox came on

Elks, American Legion Nab Victories In LL Major Tilts

The Elks blasted Purina, 19-7, and American Legion rapped Bingman Drugs, 12-7, in Little League Major contests Monday.

Torren Bensonhaver hurled the wins for the Elks. He gave up four hits, walked eight and struckout 13.

Tom Logan and Todd Mancini

Stoutsville Rips Washington, 30-6

Stoutsville rapped 21 hits to crush Washington, 30-6, in Tri County Action.

Phil Dickey hurled two-hit ball to gain the victory. Green and Wertman had the hits for Washington.

Scanlan was the losing pitcher for Washington.

Ronnie Johnson had a homerun, triple and two singles to pace Stoutsville. Brent Smith had a four-bagger and five singles, Keith Riddle added a homer and single, Mark Morrison had two triples and a pair of singles, K. C. Kern a double and two singles, Dickey cracked a double and single, Tatman rapped four singles while Valentine and Marshall each had a one-bagger for the winners.

Horseshoe Contest Set At Kingston

A horseshoe pitching contest will be held in conjunction with the Kingston Geranium Festival, June 21, 22, 23 and 24.

There will be competition in Men's Class A-B-C-D, Women's Class and Youth's Class with trophies awarded to the first three places in all classes.

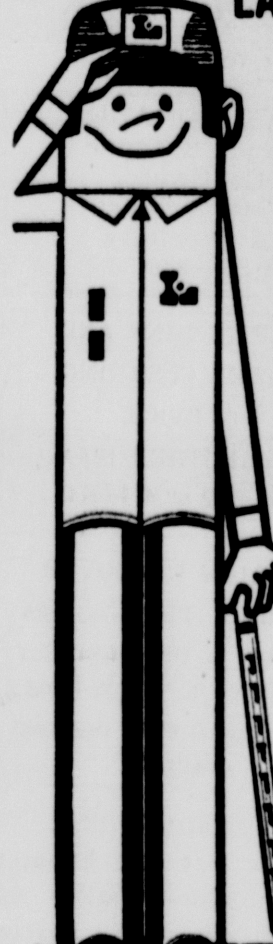

Qualifying rounds will begin 11 a.m. June 17 at Kingston Park.

Further information may be obtained from Michael Barnes, Kingston, phone 642-2066.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Lightly regarded Temple gets a chance tonight to stop the Arizona State college baseball juggernaut.

Dairymen Nip Bankers, 8-7

Blue Ribbon Dairy defeated Second National Bank 8-7 in the only Minor league game played Monday evening at Ted Lewis park.

Dwight Imler and D. Dountz were pitching the win, allowing three hits, walking nine and turning 12 batters back at the plate.

Mike Harrison was the big hitter for Blue Ribbon knocking in the tying run with his double and scoring the winning run off a wild pitch. T. Brady hit a homer for the Dairymen and Pete Harrison smacked a single.

Jeff Pauley went all the way on the mound for Second Bank giving up four hits, walking six and fanning four.

Oliver Fisher clubbed a homerun for the Bankers and Darryl Krahn hit a single.

Chilean Cabinet Offers To Quit

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — President Salvador Allende's cabinet has offered to resign to give him room to maneuver in a crisis threatening to split his leftist regime.

The presidential palace announced Monday that the 13 cabinet ministers had submitted letters of resignation to facilitate changes Allende might desire within his Popular Unity coalition, which is wracked by strife between ultra-leftists and the Communists.

Reports circulated that the president would replace some of his ministers.

Allende, a Marxist, is under pressure from radicals in the coalition demanding that Chile's conversion to socialism be speeded up and also from the growing strength of the conservative opposition.

Cancel Order For Wolf Fur

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has cancelled an order for more than a quarter-million parka hoods lined with wolf fur in an effort to save North America's vanishing timber wolves.

The timber wolf is on the government's list of endangered species.

The National Wildlife Federation had estimated that 25,000 wolves would have to be slaughtered to fill the order for 277,502 parka hoods. This was nearly one-half of the estimated wolf population in North America, the federation said, and there was fear the loss would doom the species.

Rep. William Whitehurst, R-Va., who had protested the initial order, announced it had been cancelled Monday. He said the U.S. Army Materiel Command planned to develop and test a synthetic substitute for the fur that would have similar frost-resistant properties.

City Receives First $5 License Tax Share

Circleville has received $24,302 in piggy-back motor vehicle registration fees as the first advance distribution of 1972 it was announced Monday by State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

The money is from the $5 additional tax on existing state motor vehicle license fees.

The smallest amount distributed across the state was in Stoutsville where the city received $758.

Miami Beach Police Chief Prepares For Conventions

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The man charged with keeping order during the 1972 presidential conventions is a beefy, one-time amateur boxer who reads books by Clarence Darrow and Truman Capote and who can quote Thomas Wolfe and Cicero.

Miami Beach Police Chief Rocky Pomerance recalls a boyhood in the East Bronx "where you didn't grow up, you survived," but he remembers more vividly the street violence that erupted in Chicago at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

He wants to avoid such disorders when both Democrats and Republicans conduct their nominating conventions in his city this summer.

For Pomerance, chief of police since July 4, 1963, conventions are nothing new. Miami Beach is a mecca for such activity—"we've had dozens of bigger conventions that have brought in more people."

But political conventions attract more than the delegates, and Pomerance has been planning for months to prevent chaos in the streets. By convention time, his 250 men will have received about 100 hours training on mob psychology and the importance of dissent.

Some of the seminars have involved talks with spokesmen for groups that plan to demonstrate, including Abbie Hoffman and Jerry Rubin of the Yippies.

At 6-feet, 260 pounds with broad shoulders, Pomerance looks like the stereotype of a cop's cop.

Nixon . . .

broader powers to conduct street searches without warrants.

Four years ago, the Court gingerly granted exceptions to the general Fourth Amendment rule that police cannot stop a citizen and search him unless the officer has "probable cause" to make an arrest.

The principal exception allowed a "stop and frisk" when the officer feared his life might be endangered.

Now the Court has gone on to approve the search of a man sitting in a parked car on the basis of a tipster's word that he is carrying a loaded handgun in his waistband.

The search, in Bridgeport, Conn., in 1966, turned up some heroin and the suspect was tried and convicted on narcotics and gun charges.

Said Justice Rehnquist, the newest and probably most conservative Nixon appointee: "The Fourth Amendment does not require a policeman who lacks the precise level of information necessary for probable cause to arrest to simply shrug his shoulders and allow a crime to occur or a criminal to escape."

Justice Thurgood Marshall, in dissent, noted that simply carrying a gun was not illegal in Connecticut. Therefore, he said, the officer had no more reason to suspect a crime than he would have if the frisked man, Robert Williams, were wearing a blue shirt.

Say McGovern Will Control 1,360 Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of George McGovern claim the South Dakota senator will have at least 1,360 delegate votes by the time of the Democratic party convention in Miami Beach next month.

That would be 149 short of the 1,509 needed to clinch the party nomination for president. McGovern now has 957.55 committed delegate votes and is after the 278 votes at stake in the New York State primary on June 20.

McGovern's total is greater than all of his major rivals put together. Sen. Hubert Humphrey has 349.6, Gov. George Wallace has 328, and Sen. Edmund Muskie has 178.05 for a total of 855.65. Another 127.5 are committed to other candidates and favorite sons.

There are 521.3 uncommitted delegate votes to date, and McGovern will be trying to woo support from this group, as well as from about 350 delegates remaining to be selected in state conventions. The National Democratic Convention will open July 10.

President Nixon already has sufficient votes to clinch the Republican nomination, with 874 votes, with only 674 required. The only other Republican with a delegate vote is Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., who won a single vote in the New Mexico primary.

His woodpaneled office is windowless.

Book shelves take up wall space. There are police administration texts, Miami Beach ordinances, novels—"The Godfather" by Mario Puzo, "In Cold Blood" by Capote, "Crime in America" by Estes Kefauver, the late Democratic senator from Tennessee, and "Attorney for the Damned" by Darrow.

Pomerance's formal education stopped after high school. He had been valedictorian at Public School 6 in the Bronx and received straight A's at Evander Childs High School.

Pomerance moved to Miami Beach with his mother after high school. His father had died when he was 5.

Pomerance was refused by the Naval Air Corps in World War II because of poor color perception, but was accepted by the Merchant Marine. After the war, he spent a year in the Army.

He had fought on the streets of the Bronx, and he became a service boxer, "fighting for three-day passes and a steak."

Returning to Miami Beach, Pomerance became a mailman, then joined the police department because "they paid more than what I was doing. Only later did I begin to realize the significance of police work. Now I say that we're the only social welfare agency that's open after 5 p.m. and on weekends."

Mothers Of Missing Sons Want To Claim Amnesiac

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A hundred mothers with missing sons want to claim a teen-ager who swam ashore here a week ago without a memory or a name, police say.

The blue-eyed youth, who appears to be about 17, sat in the police station here and said "I sure would like to know who I am," as tears streamed down his cheeks.

The youth seemed to know the New York and Rhode Island area, and has a long scar on his left thumb, but there are few other clues to his identity. Det. Sgt. Earl McCain said Monday.

"He stops in here at the police station every once in a while and I tell him about these women that call. I ask him, 'Is your name John Green?' And he sits there and says, 'I just don't know. Maybe.'"

"He might be 18 or even 20, but his whiskers are, well, like peach fuzz. I don't think he's that old."

"He plays the piano and the organ very well. His hair is kind of long, down the back of his neck, but not to his shoulders," the detective said of the 5-foot-11, 160-pound youth.

McCain says his office has received calls from more than 100 women, from Seattle, Atlanta, Ohio, Massachusetts, New York, all claiming that from the description the youth is their son.

McCain said he has been waiting to hear if the FBI can match the teen-ager's fingerprints with any prints on file in Washington.

The boy without a name has been examined by two local doctors who said he was suffering from amnesia, McCain reported.

The earliest memory he has is seeing a flashing green light, which McCain says was a shipping lane buoy located two miles offshore in the Gulf of Mexico.

Miami Beach Police Chief Prepares For Conventions

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The man charged with keeping order during the 1972 presidential conventions is a beely, one-time amateur boxer who reads books by Clarence Darrow and Truman Capote and who can quote Thomas Wolfe and Cicero.

Miami Beach Police Chief Rocky Pomerance recalls a boyhood in the East Bronx "where you didn't grow up, you survived," but he remembers more vividly the street violence that erupted in Chicago at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

He wants to avoid such disorders when both Democrats and Republicans conduct their nominating conventions in his city this summer.

For Pomerance, chief of police since July 4, 1963, conventions are nothing new. Miami Beach is a mecca for such activity—"we've had dozens of bigger conventions that have brought in more people."

But political conventions attract more than the delegates, and Pomerance has been planning for months to prevent chaos in the streets. By convention time, his 250 men will have received about 100 hours training on mob psychology and the importance of dissent.

Some of the seminars have involved talks with spokesmen for groups that plan to demonstrate, including Abbie Hoffman and Jerry Rubin of the Yippies.

At 6-feet, 260 pounds with broad shoulders, Pomerance looks like the stereotype of a cop's cop.

Say McGovern Will Control 1,360 Votes
WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of George McGovern claim the South Dakota senator will have at least 1,360 delegate votes by the time of the Democratic party convention in Miami Beach next month.

That would be 149 short of the 1,509 needed to clinch the party nomination for president. McGovern now has 937.55 committed delegate votes and is after the 278 votes at stake in the New York State primary on June 20.

McGovern's total is greater than all of his major rivals put together. Sen. Hubert Humphrey has 349.6, Gov. George Wallace has 328, and Sen. Edmund Muskie has 178.05 for a total of 855.65. Another 127.5 are committed to other candidates and favorite sons.

There are 521.3 uncommitted delegate votes to date, and McGovern will be trying to woo support from this group as well as from about 350 delegates remaining to be selected in state conventions. The National Democratic Convention will open July 10.

President Nixon already has sufficient votes to clinch the Republican nomination, with 874 votes, with only 674 required. The only other Republican with a delegate vote is Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., who won a single vote in the New Mexico primary.

His woodpaneled office is windowless. Book shelves take up wall space. There are police administration texts, Miami Beach ordinances, novels—"The Godfather" by Mario Puzo, "In Cold Blood" by Capote. There is "Crime in America" by Estes Kefauver, the late Democratic senator from Tennessee, and "Attorney for the Damned" by Darrow.

Pomerance's formal education stopped after high school. He had been valedictorian at Public School 6 in the Bronx and received straight A's at Evander Childs High School.

Pomerance moved to Miami Beach with his mother after high school. His father had died when he was 5.

Pomerance was refused by the Naval Air Corps in World War II because of poor color perception, but was accepted by the Merchant Marine. After the war, he spent a year in the Army.

He had fought on the streets of the Bronx, and he became a service boxer, "fighting for three-day passes and a steak."

Returning to Miami Beach, Pomerance became a mailman, then joined the police department because "they paid more than what I was doing. Only later did I begin to realize the significance of police work. Now I say that we're the only social welfare agency that's open after 5 p.m. and on weekends."

The search, in Bridgeport, Conn., in 1966, turned up some heroin and the suspect was tried and convicted on narcotics and gun charges.

Said Justice Rehnquist, the newest and probably most conservative Nixon appointee: "The Fourth Amendment does not require a policeman who lacks the precise level of information necessary for probable cause to arrest to simply shrug his shoulders and allow a crime to occur or a criminal to escape."

Justice Thurgood Marshall, in dissent, noted that simply carrying a gun was not illegal in Connecticut. Therefore, he said, the officer had no more reason to suspect a crime than he would have if the frisked man, Robert Williams, were wearing a blue shirt.

Mothers Of Missing Sons Want To Claim Amnesiac

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A hundred mothers with missing sons want to claim a teen-ager who swam ashore here a week ago without a memory or a name, police say.

The blue-eyed youth, who appears to be about 17, sat in the police station here and said "I sure would like to know who I am," as tears streamed down his cheeks.

The youth seemed to know the New York and Rhode Island area, and has a long scar on his left thumb, but there are few other clues to identify Det. Sgt. Earl McCain said Monday.

He stops in here at the police station every once in a while and I tell him about these women that call. I ask him, 'Is your name John Green?' And he sits there and says, 'I just don't know. Maybe.'

"He might be 18 or even 20, but his whiskers are, well, like peach fuzz. I don't think he's that old."

"He plays the piano and the organ very well. His hair is kind of long, down the back of his neck, but not to his shoulders," the detective said of the 5-foot-11, 160-pound youth.

McCain says his office has received calls from more than 100 women, from Seattle, Atlanta, Ohio, Massachusetts, New York, all claiming that from the description the youth is their son.

McCain said he has been waiting to hear if the FBI can match the teen-ager's fingerprints with any prints on file in Washington.

The boy without a name has been examined by two local doctors who said he was suffering from amnesia, McCain reported.

The earliest memory he has is seeing a flashing green light, which McCain says was a shipping lane buoy located two miles offshore in the Gulf of Mexico.
